Regarding: Samples sent to Celignis for laboratory analysis

To Whom it May Concern,

Celignis Limited is a company that provides analytical services for biomass samples. We receive samples at our laboratory and they are kept in sealed containers. They never leave the lab and are consumed (via ashing and other treatments) in the analysis process. We classify biomass as being plant-derived materials (e.g. straws, grasses etc.). The samples being analysed are not animal products or animal-derived products.

As of August 10th 2022 Celignis has been granted a “permanent relief from Payment of Import Charges on the Importation of Goods for Test Purposes, valid from 10th August 2022 until 9th August 2023” – Authorisation Number: PR6/2022.

A copy of this authorisation letter is included with the documentation accompanying this shipment.

The courier or postal service handling the package can use this information to complete an electronic customs declaration on AIS. On this customs declaration they should:

- Declare the goods as goods for examination, analysis or test purposes;
- Enter code C33 in D/E 1/11, and;
- Enter code 1D09 and the authorisation number (PR6/2022) from the letter of authorisation in D/E 2/3.

Please contact us by telephone using the numbers listed above if you have any further questions.
